In these custom programs, clients are first analyzed at the "Slim-Up Station"--a technology that quickly assesses hundreds of data points to design a customized program specific to their physiology and treatment goals. Each program includes a 6-page comprehensive wellness report and a series of treatments that utilize numerous methods and configurations to achieve highly personalized results. These technologies include:

"Slim-Up Must," an FDA-cleared device that combines 6 infrared ray sources and three electrical muscle stimulation programs to target stubborn fat areas and specific muscle groups. Two main functions serve to tone or slim the body, with settings specific to each target area and objective. These "electrosulpt treatments" are combined with several steam and drain sessions.

"Slim-Up Steam" is a newly-designed beauty therapy unit combining the thermal effect of infrared rays with the beneficial effects of steam and aromatherapy. There are five programs alternating and combining functions that focus on toning, slimming and eliminating impurities from the skin and body. This program component is also essential for the multi-factor treatment of cellulite.

"Slim-Up Drain" delivers presso-massage to the whole body, assisting the mobilization of fluids. The unit combines elements to treat each portion of the body (upper and lower limbs) with sea wave technology, a system made up of overlapping segments that are sequentially inflated and deflated to enable progressive pressure without interruption. When the lymphatic system is clogged with metabolic waste, consequences include swelling, cellulite, inflammation, fatigue, weight gain and skin issues – making this treatment essential to boosting the effectiveness of the overall program.

Sauna Italia is one of the most successful international manufacturers of beauty and wellness technologies, with more than 40 years innovating in this field. They conduct extensive research, testing and scientific studies in the creation and quality design of the most advanced and effective systems for spas and wellness centers.

Foggiare Wellness Center is located in Largo, Florida, also servicing the Tampa and St. Petersburg areas. Attracting many female and male clients that are now experiencing the benefits and excellent results from their treatment programs, Foggiare Wellness Center plans to expand to new locations in the U.S., with a new center in Boca Raton, Florida coming soon. In addition, Foggiare Technologies is now offering their concept and Slim-Up system to other providers or investors interested in joining the growing aesthetics and wellness markets.
